Dr Akbar Ashrafi
BHB, MB ChB, FRACS (Urol.)

Urological and Robotic Surgeon

Dr Akbar Ashrafi is a fellowship-trained urological and robotic surgeon who manages all general adult urological conditions. Dr Ashrafi graduated from Auckland Medical School and completed his surgical training in Brisbane and Sydney, before moving to Los Angeles for three years where he gained extensive high-volume subspecialty experience in advanced robotic surgery and urologic oncology from the prestigious University of Southern California (USC) Institute of Urology.

His areas of special clinical interest include:

- general urology including elevated PSA, haematuria, BPH and kidney stones
- prostate, bladder, kidney, and testicular cancer
- advanced robotic surgery for benign and malignant conditions

Dr. Ashrafi believes in a collaborative approach when determining treatment options, which includes the patient and their primary care specialist. He is passionate about teaching and education and has published extensively in peer-reviewed literature.
